MUSIC OF LABOR.

The banging of the hummer, The whirling of the plane, The crashing of the busy saw, The creaking of the crane, The wringing of the anyli, The grating of the drill, The clattering of the turning lathe,

The whirling of the mill, The buzzing of the spindle, The rattling of the loom,

The puffing of the cugine,
The fan's continual boom.
The clipping of the tailor's shears,
The driving of the awl—
These sounds of industry

I love-I love them all. The cheking of the magic type, The carnest talk of men,
The toiling of the giant press,
The seratching of the pen,
The tapping of the yard-stick,
The tinkling of the scales,

The unking of the scales,
The whistling of the needle,
(When no bright check is pale),
The humming of the cooking stove,
The surging of the broom,
The pattering feet of childhood,
The housewile's busy hum,
The housewile's the schollers

The buzzing of the scholars,
The teacher's kindly call—
The sounds of active industry
1 love—I love them all.

I love the plowman's whistle, The resper's cheerful song, The drover's oft repeated shout, Spurring his stock along, The bustling of the market man

The bustling of the market man
As he lifes him on to town,
The balloo from the-tree top
As the ripened fruit comes down,
The busy sound of threshers
As they clean the ripened grain,
The husker's joke and catch of glee
'Neath the moonlight on the plain,
The kind voice of the drayman,
The shenberd's gentle call—

"THE UNDISCOVERED COUNTRY."

The shepherd's gentle call— The sounds of pleasant industry 1 love—I love them all.

Aught of that country could we surely know,
Who would not go?

Might we but hear
The hovering angel's high imagined chorus,
Or catch, betimes, with wakeful eyes and clear,
One radiant vista of the realm before us—
With one rapt moment given to see and hear, Ah, who would fear?

"What Will You Say, Sir?"

When Thos. Hoopoo, a native of the South Sea Islands, had been about two years in the Cornwall Mission School, he took a journey with a friend, and spent an evening in a select company, who were shorn of material aid in this respect.

We shall all be there. They will ask us all one question, namely, "Do you love the Lord Jesus Christ?"-Now, sir, I think I can say, Yes. What will you say, sir?" He ceased : a death-like stillness perva ded the room. At length it was broken by a proposition of the lawyer, that as the evening was far spent, they should have a season of devotion, in which Thomas should lead. It was acceded to; and Thomas, in another fine assortment of NEW his accustomed meek and affectionate man-GOODS, consisting, in part, of Cloths, Cas-ner, addressed the Throne of Grace. He sobbed aloud. The whole company were affected, and sobs drowned the speaker's voice. Soon they separated and retired to their respective rooms. But there was no rest for the lawyer. The question of Thomas rung in his ears, " What will you say, sir?" He paced his room in auguish. The Spirit of God renewed his heart

Wooden Swearing.

I know a little boy who, when he is put out, slams the door, stamps hard with his feet, jerks his chair, throws down his play things, and if he is told to pile up wood, makes a great racket in the house. His cross and angry feelings are often very apt more general interest manifested by parents, to show themselves in this noisy way.

the magnitude of benefit derived from a uniform

System of School Revenue, a few facts and ndvantages are submitted. Pennsylvania pays 3.63 mills on every dollar in the recapitulated average, for school purposes. A great diversity, however, exists in the aggregate average of each county. Whilst some counties pay an average of 6, 8 and 10 mills on a dollar, others pay but 1 and 2 of a mill on a dollar, for school purposes. In counties where common schools met with encouragement since their adoption we find the educational interest universal, and consequently taxation is much reduced. This applies unfortunately only to the wealthier counties of the State; but the poorer counties felt the injustice of the System at once, and all efforts on their part to establish schools, employ competent teachers, offer adequate salaries to teachers, and increase the school term to a better standard, &c., were but partially successful .-Hence, we see dissatisfaction and lack of interest among the masses in those counties; and they have ample cause for it. School taxes in many of our poor counties are onerous, in thickly-populated counties of the State, derive the principal benefit from this source, while at the same time, poor counties struggling with heavy school taxes are almost neglected, and of tax in rich counties, and reduce proportionbors do in all their ailluence. But this would, course, accumulate in the wealthy counties for school purposes, by this system of uniformity. These funds might be deposited in the State Treasury, and thence disbursed justly to poor counties whose actual necessities demand them, for the promotion and advancement of their educational interests. Thus would one of the thing. fundamental principles of liberty and justice be vindicated—the rich and poor pay in proportion to their pecuniary ability-the law on this subject maintained inviolate-and the ultimate triumph of uniformity and justice. The rich and poor counties of the State would also be brought to the same standard in other respects. Besides relieving many counties of half or three-fourths their rates of taxes. this Uniform policy has the tendency of promoting many beneficial and even moral advantages. Adams county, as well as many others, would share these benefits and advantages .--Among others, paramount in importance, the direct result of which no one can question, are the following advantages :- an increased number of months taught a year; more competent instructors employed generally; ample and adequate salaries offered to teachers; and a directors and children in the cause of education. These are results which the most casual observer may trace-results which every friend of education has prayed for, exerted influences of these advantages, amply justify Adams co., this matter.

Funeral Obsequies of Ger. Scott. WEST POINT, June 1 .- The mortal remains of the illustrious Lieutenant General Winfield Scott were consigned to earth in the West Point Cemetery, to day, and the occasion was remarkably impressive and solemn in its character. As is generally known, the Licutenant General died at Roe's Hotel, on Tuesday last. His body remained there until this morning, when the coffin having arrived from New York, the remains were placed in it and conveyed Important Legal Decision.

Scolding Women Punished as Disturbers of the Peace -The Supreme Court of this State, at its recent session at Harrisburg, says the Allentown Democrat, decided an important point in a case taken up from that county. We refer to the case of the Commonwealth vs. Elnora Mohn, who had been indicted in Lehigh as a common scold, &c. and acquitted under a ruling by Judge Maynard. The defendant was indieted on two counts ; the first charging her with being a common scold and disturber of the peace of the neighborhood: squashed the indictment and held that the offense was not punishable by the laws of this Commonwealth. Another Large Stock

OF NEW GOODS JUST RECEIVED AT GRIMRS'S. PhAMES A. GRIMES, York street, has been to the city again, to replenish his stock, which went off so rapidly, because it was so very good and so very cheap. The new stock beats anything he has yet offered to this community, and he hopes all the people will come and see for themselves. His new purchase of SYRUPS can't be beat, and he will sell from a pint up to a barrel; his SUGARS are of ull varieties.including the very primest; his COF-FEES are the best in the market; his FISH are elegan'; and his FLOUR extra.

He has laid in a large lot of STONE-WARE which he offers cheap, and is sure will please so with his WOODENWARE, QUEERSWARE, LAMPS, PICKLES, SPICES, CONFECTION-ERY, Tobacco and Segars, and the thousand other things to be found in his very full and complete Store. By selling cheap, and selling profit. quick, he expects to get along quite as well as those who have greater profits, but sell slower. June 12.

A West Point correspondent of the Herspeech lately in the U. S. Senate, drew the laid gives the following particulars of the death of Lieut. Gen. Scott:

Roe's Hotel, West Point, May 29. 1866 .- Lieut, Gen. Winfield Scott died at his house to day at five minutes past eleven. He departed peacefully. No struggle indicated the passage of the old hero's soul he tottered a little, and had to pause upon every step as be mounted to the hotel. After a few days, however, he railied considerably, and as late as Saturday, at half-past riding. The same day he wrote some letrequested Gen. Cullum, commandant of the at peace; post, to indite a letter for him, which he franked himself, though in an almost illegible hand.

He appeared to suffer from no specific ailment, but rather a general decline of physical strength. His mind was clear to the last. So little expectation was there of his immediate demise that his daughter. Mrs. Hoy:, of New York, who had been staying with him for some days, left here for home yesterday. Last night the Gen. was taken with a chill, and the assistant surgeon of the post, Dr. Marsh, was immediately summoded. Even then there appeared to be no danger, and at nine o'clock this morning Dr. Marsh assured Gen.
